Communication And Environment Sustainability And Risks:

Communication and Environment: Sustainability and Risks (Penerbit USM) Hamidah Abd. Hamid, Azman Azwan Azmawati, Jamilah Hj. Ahmad, Nik Norma Nik Hasan, 2014-11-25 There is a dearth of literature on environmental communication within the non western world The few existing ones are scattered and not easily available Thus there is a dire need to document research and literature in the field The opportunity arose at the 2009 International Conference on Communication and Environment held in Penang Malaysia The international conference with the theme Transformation for a Sustainable Tomorrow organised by the School of Communication Universiti Sains Malaysia USM attracted scholars practitioners and activists from around the world to listen and deliberate on various aspects of communication and environment The post conference review resulted in the selection of 24 papers to be compiled into this edited volume The escalating degradation of environment locally and globally was the main concern that prompted discussions on how sustainability can be advocated The development process in many countries economic activities and political decisions on issues such as deforestation for timber logging rapid urbanisation pertinently points out that environmental degradation and any communication on environmental change has to be grounded and located within the wider context of social politics and economics of the society Communication and environmental communication for that matter have also to be understood within these wider contexts Many would agree that a constant and consistent flow of information communicated through different channels to different stakeholders at the right time and destinations can help raise awareness and consciousness of environmental problems protection and preservation This vital information can enable the public and stakeholders to make informed choices and take actions whenever possible A lack of communication and information will inordinately exacerbate the situation of environmental degradation This book thus highlights how the environment is being treated in the media communicated to the society and impacted nations The chapters are grouped into the following sections Theoretical and conceptual issues Media content and the environment Politics communication and the environment Corporate social and environmental responsibility and Citizen participation human rights and the environment The editors acknowledge the excellent contributions of all the authors and are indebted to the members of the review panel the external reviewer USM Publications Committee and staff of Universiti Sains Malaysia Press for their help in ensuring the quality of this volume Most importantly we express our gratitude to USM for providing the financial support for the international conference and making it possible to publish this book The Editors January 2012 Universiti Sains Malaysia Penerbit Universiti Sains Malaysia

Insurance, Climate Change and the Law Franziska Arnold-Dwyer, 2024-04-03 The insurance industry has found itself at the front line of climate change challenges providing insurance cover in relation to risks associated with climate change As risk carriers insurers pay claims for climate change related losses such as property damage caused by windstorms flooding and wildfires which have been increasing in frequency and severity As major institutional investors insurance companies invest in assets that may be increasingly vulnerable to climate risks Insurance regulators across the globe have therefore started to require insurance companies to identify manage and report on climate change risks that could pose a threat to their financial stability However managing and reporting on the effect of climate risk on an insurer s balance sheet is an inward looking perspective that does not stem climate change It needs to be paired with an outward looking perspective that takes account of the insurance industry s impact on the environment and the insurance industry s capacity to influence what policyholders investee enterprises and other business partners do to address climate change challenges For the insurance industry the key components of positive outward impact are impact underwriting and impact investment This book sets out the current legal and regulatory landscape for impact underwriting and impact investment Whilst the focus of research and regulatory interventions to date has been on inward impact in this book it will be argued that to take positive climate action that supports the Paris Agreement goals and the national and international Net Zero targets the debate should now move on to considering the positive outward impact the insurance industry can make and how we can create a legal environment to facilitate this The book puts forward the case for a new vision of the role of the insurance industry as climate action enablers and makes proposals for insurance products and risk transfer and loss resilience structures that can support policyholders in their transition to a Net Zero economy The audience for this book will include legal practitioners insurance industry professionals financial and insurance regulators policymakers and interested academics Risk Communication Regina E.
