

Back-to-Back Drawing Communication Exercise

Instructions

1. Pair off group members, and select them to sit back-to-back.
2. Give one member (the "listener") a sheet of paper with pencil, and the other member (the "speaker") a geometrical image from pages 1 + 2.
3. Ask the speaker to describe the geometrical image in detail. The listener will attempt to recreate the image on their blank piece of paper based upon the instructions. Neither member can see the others' paper, and the listener may not communicate with the speaker. When 3 - 5 minutes for this portion of the exercise.

Discussion Questions

Speaker

What steps did you take to make sure your instructions would be clear? How can these steps be translated to verbal communication?

What was it like not having feedback from the listener during the exercise?

What are some things you have to interpret, or often not the same. What can you do while speaking to reduce the risk of miscommunication or end the communication?

Listener

What did you do about the speaker's instructions?

Did you find that any of the speaker's instructions were ambiguous, or difficult to follow?

How do you think your results would've been different if you had been able to communicate with the speaker?

Communication is a much about being a good listener as being a good speaker. What steps can you take while listening to reduce miscommunication in verbal situations?
