 Human Rights Watch (Organization),2003 Algerian security forces made disappear at least 7 000 persons more than the number recorded in any other country during the past decade except wartime Bosnia Human Rights Watch said in a new report To date the Algerian authorities have utterly failed to investigate these disappearances or to provide families with answers about the fate of their loved ones None of the missing has returned and no one has been held accountable for their disappearance The report Time for Reckoning Enforced Disappearances in Algeria also accuses armed groups that call themselves Islamist of kidnapping perhaps thousands of Algerians during the armed strife that ravaged the country since the early 1990s and cost over 100 000 lives These armed groups as well as state security services that carried out massive disappearances are guilty of crimes against humanity and should benefit neither from any amnesty or statute of limitations At a time when Algerian authorities are seeking warmer relations with the United States and European Union there are indications they want to turn the page on this problem Notably the new human rights commissioner appointed by President Abdelaziz Bouteflika has spoken about a possible official apology and compensation to the families but also amnesty for perpetrators Publisher website La Semaine littéraire ,1911 Dictionnaire D'archéologie Chrétienne Et de
