A Critical Analysis of a New E-business Model Carina Schebitz,2018-06-18 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 2 0 University of Applied Sciences Essen language English abstract The primary function of this bachelor thesis is to connect the subject of E Business models with the web 2 0 phenomenon of weblogs Therefore it is necessary to ascertain whether blogs can commercially perform as a characteristic of E Business models Furthermore this paper should reveal what specific factors need to be considered and which challenges can occur when professionally operating a blog Thus the digital economics research for example the literature of Kollmann Reynolds or Wirtz provide a broad base concerning the revenue models and the categorization of classical E Businesses such as E Commerce Websites However it does not scrutinize the particular requirements of weblogs On the other hand the relatively new body of literature about blogs focuses on the software and technological fundamentals the specific characteristics as well as the different characteristics Moreover in the year 2016 many professional bloggers exist that can make a living from their publishing occupation This indicates that weblogs already represent a form of an E Business model However the author does not know of published studies nor papers that have empirically investigated or described the business models of weblogs In order to fill that void the purpose of this bachelor thesis is to provide a systematical guideline from an economic perception in order to establish a weblog It will include potential risk factors and particular requirements as the following chapters will enumerate more clearly Ultimately this paper s aim is to serve potential future bloggers in gaining knowledge about factors they need to pay attention to from the beginning of their work as well as marketers that need to regard unwritten rules when it comes to working with influencers such as bloggers

Taxonomy of a Fast Data Business Model in the Mobility Market Andreas Landgraf,2020-06-05 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1 00 Campus02 University of Applied Sciences Graz language English abstract Today the market around mobility is under heavy change The industry is preparing the change from fossil fuels to their alternatives Large funds are raised to build new products based on electricity either with rechargeable battery packs or solar energy Another field of research and development is autonomous driving Google and Tesla are prominent examples of companies developing technologies and prototypes of future autonomous cars The information technology used in such cars is using data analysis and artificial intelligence to observe measure predict and control traffic situations This technology is influenced by one of the trending technologies of the early 21th century Big Data The basic research in data analysis had its crucial test in many Big Data related projects and products like Facebook and Twitter A part of the data analysis process are classification algorithms used to classify the input data for targeted further processing Decision trees are one of the algorithms of classification They are very precisely but tend to overflow This thesis will introduce the taxonomy of a business model related to Open Innovation for developing a new decision tree algorithm for the mobility market Therefore the data analysis process up to classification algorithms are introduced The major decision tree algorithms are discussed in detail to build up the characteristics of the new decision tree algorithm Furthermore the Open Innovation model is introduced to carve out the assets and drawbacks of this model Based on that theoretical information the taxonomy of a preliminary business model is developed and visualized using the business model canvas To prove this concept expert interviews and questionnaires were used to gather feedback and new ideas The collected information is used to modify the taxonomy of the business model The resulting business model canvas shows the possibility of implementation Emerging Themes Affecting the Fashion Retail Industry Leonard Kahungu,2018-06-19 Case Study from the year 2018 in the subject Business economics Company formation Business Plans grade 78 00 course LRPM language English abstract This paper seeks to review the asos com case in attempts to critically evaluate various themes affecting the fashion industry in the contemporary environment The findings will be used to establish various strategies that will continue to affect the fashion industry in the next five years Lastly the report will develop several recommendations based on the inferences obtained from the critical evaluation and analysis of the asos com case study Most industries have experienced radical changes in the last few decades as a result of emerging themes commercial undertakings Particularly the fashion retail industry has also experienced radical changes due to emerging issues Integrated Energy Policy Report ...
