Caps Mathematical Literacy Examination Question Paper 2014:

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages. Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools. The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully. The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience. Annual Report Mpumalanga (South Africa). Department of Education, 2014

Improving a Country's Education Nuno Crato, 2020-11-23 This open access book compares and contrasts the results of international student assessments in ten countries. The OECD's Programme for International Student Assessment (PISA) released the results of its 2018 assessment in December 2019. This book reflects the debates that typically follow the release of these results and focuses on the causes of differences between countries. Such causes include continuous decline in one country, improvement combined with increasing internal inequalities in another country, or rapid improvement in spite of an outdated curriculum in yet another. In addition, the book discusses a number of general questions: Is knowledge outdated? Are computers taking over and replacing teachers? Are schools killing creativity? Are we adequately preparing the next generation? Are schools failing to educate our kids? The book starts out with a summary of PISA's evolution and PISA results and an explanation of the major factors that play a role in changes in countries' results. The next ten chapters are devoted to ten specific countries, offering a summary of data and an explanation of the major drives for changes in education results for each one. Each chapter includes a short description of the country's educational system as well as the impact of PISA and other ILSA studies on the country's educational policies. The chapters also include a timeline of policy measures and main hallmarks of the country's educational evolution, discussing the impact of these measures on its PISA results. A final reference chapter explains what PISA is, what it measures, and how. While highlighting the 2018 results, the book also takes into consideration previous results as well as long-term initiatives. This book gathers the contribution of well-known and respected experts in the field. Specialists such as Eric Hanushek for the US, Tim Oates for England, Montse Gomendio for Spain, Gunda Tire for Estonia, and all other contributors draw on their vast experience and statistical analysis expertise to draw a set of rich country lessons and recommendations that are invaluable for all of those who care about improving a country's education system. Pedagogy in Poverty Ursula Hoadley, 2017-08-09 As South Africa transitioned from apartheid to democracy, changes in the political landscape as well as educational agendas and discourse on both a national and international level shaped successive waves of curriculum reform over a relatively short period of time Using South Africa as a germane example of how curriculum and pedagogy can interact and affect educational outcomes Pedagogy in Poverty explores the potential of curricula to improve education in developing and emerging economies worldwide and ultimately to reduce inequality Incorporating detailed empirical accounts of life inside South African classrooms this book is a much needed contribution to international debate surrounding optimal curriculum and pedagogic forms for children in poor schools Classroom level responses to curriculum policy reforms reveal some implications of the shifts between a radical progressive approach and traditional curriculum forms Hoadley focuses on the crucial role of teachers as mediators between curriculum and pedagogy and explores key issues related to teacher knowledge by examining the teaching of reading and numeracy at the foundational levels of schooling Offering a data rich historical sociology of curriculum and pedagogic change this book will appeal to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education sociology of education curriculum studies educational equality and school reform and the policy and politics of education
