

Mid-year Exam: Trig and Geometry

Question 1: Trigonometry

1.1 Solve the following by using your calculator (round to two places where necessary):

1.1.1 $\sin 44^\circ$

1.1.2 $3 \tan(15^\circ + 6^\circ)$

1.1.3 $\operatorname{cosec}^2 70^\circ$

1.1.4 $\sin^2 70^\circ$

1.1.5 $\frac{3 \sin 125^\circ}{\tan 221^\circ \cdot \cos 64^\circ}$

1.1.6 $\frac{1}{\cos(90^\circ - 20^\circ)} - 3 \tan 20^\circ$

1.2 Solve for x in each of the following:

1.2.1 $\frac{2}{\tan x} = 1,34$

1.2.2 $\frac{1}{\cos x} = 1,7$

1.2.3 $\sin\left(\frac{x}{2}\right) = 0,75$

1.2.4 $\sin(2x - 5^\circ) = \cos 10,5^\circ$

1.2.5 $\frac{1}{2} \cos x = 0,214$

1.2.6 $\tan(x - 20^\circ) = 1,43$

1.3 If $x = 25^\circ$ and $y = 34^\circ$, solve the following:

1.3.1 $\sin^2 x + \cos^2 y$

1.3.2 $\cos(x + y + 20^\circ)$

Question 2:

2.1 In the diagram $AC = 13$ units, $AD = 3$ units. $\angle B\hat{A}$ and $B\hat{D}C$ are right angles.

2.1.1 Determine the length of BC , correct to the nearest whole number.

2.1.2 Determine the value of angle β , correct to two decimal numbers.

Curriculum Mathematics Paper November 2014 Grade 10:

The State of the Art in Student Engagement Carl Senior, 2015-07-10 There is an extensive literature conducted from a range of theoretical perspectives and methodologies on the role of groups and student learning in higher education. However, here the concept of the group is heavily contested at a theoretical level but within higher education practice characterizing the group has tended to be clear cut. Groups of students are often formed within the parameters of specific educational programs to address explicitly defined learning objectives. These groups are often small scale and achieve tasks through cooperative or collaborative learning. Cooperative learning involves students dividing roles and responsibilities between group members so learning becomes an independent process and outcome. On the other hand, collaborative learning involves students working together by developing shared meanings and knowledge to solve a task or problem. From this perspective, learning is conceptualized as both a social process and individual outcome. That is, collaborative learning may facilitate individual student conceptual understanding and hence lead to higher academic achievement. The empirical evidence is encouraging as has been shown that students working collaboratively tend to achieve higher grades than students working independently. However, the above perspectives on student engagement assume that groups are formed within the confines of formal learning environments. e.g. lecture theaters. Students on the same degree program have the explicit function of achieving a learning task and disband once this has been achieved. However, students may also use existing social networks such as friendship groups as a mechanism for learning which may occur outside of formal learning environments. There is an extensive literature on the role and benefits of friendship groups on student learning within primary and secondary education but there is a distinct lack of research within higher education. This ebook is innovative and ambitious and will highlight and consolidate the current understanding of the role that student-based engagement behaviors may serve in effective pedagogy. A unique aspect of this research topic will be the fact that scholars will also be welcome to submit articles that describe the efficacy of the full range of approaches that have been employed to facilitate student engagement across the sector.

Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice. Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education, it argues that while research generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching, the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident. The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice. In the first part of the book, four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom. In the second part, each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms. Combining two discourses, that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education educational research and classroom practices This book will be key reading for postgraduates researchers and academics in education and particularly in the areas of mathematics education education research teacher education and classroom practice It will also appeal to teacher educators practitioners and undergraduate students interested in educational research

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

Holocaust Education in Primary Schools in the Twenty-First Century Claus-Christian W. Szejnmann, Paula Cowan, James Griffiths, 2018-07-09 This collection is the first of its kind bringing together Holocaust educational researchers as well as school and museum educators from across the globe to discuss the potentials of Holocaust education in relation to primary school children Its contributors are from countries that have a unique relationship with the Holocaust such as Germany Israel neutral Switzerland and Allied countries outside the UK Their research provides new insight into the diverse ways in which primary aged students engage with Holocaust education Chapters explore the impact of teaching the Holocaust to this age group school and museum teaching pedagogies and primary students perspectives of the Holocaust This book will appeal to school and museum educators of primary aged students whose work requires them to teach the Holocaust Citizenship or Civics or Human Rights Education Since the turn of the twenty first century there has been a transformation in school and museum based Holocaust education This book clearly demonstrates that primary education has been included in this transformation
