LOST CONTROL The Crash of Kenya Airways Flight 507 Hank Williamson, editor, 2012-07-01 During the night of 04th May 2007 the B737 800 registration 5Y KYA operated by Kenya Airways as flight KQA 507 from Abidjan international airport Cote d'Ivoire to the Jomo Kenyatta airport Nairobi Kenya made a scheduled stop over at the Douala international airport Cameroon The weather was stormy A number of departing planes decided to wait for the weather to improve Kenya Airways however decided to depart Shortly after take off at about 1000 ft the aircraft entered into a slow right roll that increased continuously and eventually ended up in a spiral dive On the 5th May 2007 at approximately 0008 hrs the airplane crashed in a mangrove swamp South South East of Douala All 114 people on board were killed and the airplane was completely destroyed The airplane crashed after loss of control by the crew as a result of spatial disorientation after a long slow roll during which no instrument scanning was done and in the absence of external visual references in a dark night FMC User's Guide Bill Bulfer, Leading Edge Libraries, Skeet Gifford, 1991 Moody's Bank and Finance Manual, 1994 The Limits of Expertise R. Key Dismukes, Benjamin A. Berman, Loukia Loukopoulos, 2017-03-02 Why would highly skilled well trained pilots make errors that lead to accidents when they had safely completed many thousands of previous flights The majority of all aviation accidents are attributed primarily to human error but this is often misinterpreted as evidence of lack of skill vigilance or conscientiousness of the pilots The Limits of Expertise is a fresh look at the causes of pilot error and aviation accidents arguing that accidents can be understood only in the context of how the overall aviation system operates The authors analyzed in great depth the 19 major U S airline accidents from 1991 2000 in which the National Transportation Safety Board NTSB found crew error to be a causal factor Each accident is reviewed in a separate chapter that examines events and crew actions and explores the cognitive processes in play at each step The approach is guided by extensive evidence from cognitive psychology that human skill and error are opposite sides of the same coin The book examines the ways in which competing task demands ambiguity and organizational pressures interact with cognitive processes to make all experts vulnerable to characteristic forms of error The final chapter identifies themes cutting across the accidents discusses the role of chance criticizes simplistic concepts of causality of accidents and suggests ways to reduce vulnerability to these catastrophes The authors complementary experience allowed a unique approach to the study accident investigation with the NTSB cognitive psychology research both in the lab and in the field enormous first hand experience of piloting and application of aviation psychology in both civil and military operations This combination allowed the authors to examine and explain the domain specific aspects of aviation operations and to extend advances in basic research in cognition to complex issues of human performance in the real world Although The Limits of Expertise is directed to aviation operations the implications are clear for understanding the decision processes skilled performance and errors of professionals in many domains including medicine Ernsting's Aviation and Space Medicine David P. Gradwell, Elizabeth S. Wilkinson, 2025-05-30 Ernsting's Aviation and Space Medicine applies current understanding in medicine physiology and the behavioural sciences to the medical challenges and stresses that are faced by both civil and military aircrew and their passengers on a daily basis The sixth edition of this established textbook and clinical reference has been revised and updated by a multidisciplinary team of experienced contributors many new to this edition The structure of the book has been refined bringing related chapters together where appropriate while the clinical content has been carefully streamlined in line with the specific requirements of the aviation medicine practitioner and adviser with new chapters added on Commercial Space Travel Skin Disease and Women's Health Key Features Convenient embraces all aspects of aviation medicine in a single volume divided into four parts for ease of reference Aviation Physiology Aircrew Systems Space Physiology Medicine Clinical Aviation Medicine and Operational Aviation Medicine Comprehensive covers all forms of military and passenger carrying aircraft including issues surrounding passenger safety and transport of the sick and injured Aids detailed understanding focuses on the principles underlying the standards in the field rather than just the standards themselves Applicable worldwide addresses international issues including worldwide regulation of medical standards and travel and disease Accessible chapter summaries enable rapid assimilation of key points while key references and suggestions for further reading encourage in depth learning eBook included text fully online and searchable via VitalSource eBook The text remains the recommended coursebook for those studying for the Diploma in Aviation Medicine of the Faculty of Occupational Medicine of the Royal College of Physicians recognized worldwide as an exemplary standard in the field and for similar worldwide qualifications It is an essential companion for all civil and military aviation medicine practitioners both when preparing for professional examinations and in daily practice and for those in the many disciplines of the behavioural and life sciences that include some study of aviation its physiology and related issues It is also recommended reading for those with a wider interest in the medical problems of professional or recreational flying air transport and the aviation industry
