Thurber,1980 Office Automation Don Tapscott,2013-11-21 Every pioneer takes large risks hoping that the new frontier he seeks will provide the benefits of independence and good fortune Don Tapscott is such a pioneer in the area of office automation He has been a true pioneer having entered the field in its early days and taken the risk of working not in technol ogy which was fashionable but in the field of the problems of organizations which was less fashionable but in many ways more important The utilization of computers for data processing accounting inventory and other bread and butter applications is now well entrenched in our society and culture The process of designing such systems tends to focus on the needs of the company and the constraints of the equipment leading to efficient systems with little tolerance for the variety of people who must use or interface with them Within the office automation area these methods do not work nearly as well The frequency and amount of human interaction in the office environment and the wide variety of situations and we are living in revolutionary times To a large degree we are in a time of massive economic and industrial change and perhaps history will one day record this era as the Second Industrial Revolution Certainly we have been made aware of the decline of smoke stack industries and of the rapid rise of what might be called the infor mation industries in the United States and presumably in most of the western world Several best selling authors have assured us that we must change or perish and a great many industrialists appear to agree Ironically we have also been all but promised a return to a modern form of that very cottage industry economy that the first Industrial Revolution wiped out Some of our leading savants envision individuals working at home on desktop computers connected via hardwire telephone to an employer s large central computer Will this come to pass Perhaps the industrial economic indicators appear to point in that direction although there are the problems of numerous laws and regulations labor laws and OSHA laws to name only two areas and ignoring for the moment the reaction of our labor unions that would be most difficult to reconcile with such an arrangement In a sense it is the computer that has brought about this condition
