Credit Secrets Lisa Din,2020-12-27 Credit simply refers to the ability to borrow We all need money to cater for various expenditures in life However just like any other economic resource it is never enough which means we are limited to what we can do since almost everything nowadays needs money In this day and age where consumer price rise is quite apparent it is getting tougher and tougher for the average person to afford a lifestyle Right from consumer products to services everything is now extremely expensive and the person needs to arrange for bagful of money to lead a normal life But it is not possible for him or her to arrange for this money through their monthly income alone and have to rely on some external sources of credit These sources of credit can be banks credit card companies and other creditors who will readily give you credit if you fall under the desired category For instance without additional or external financing individuals and corporations cannot expand or grow financially It is important that they have some money at their disposal in order to cater to all their monthly yearly financial needs Borrowing is one of the most reliable sources of financing there is available but of course it comes at a cost Nothing in this world will be only about benefits and there will be several good things that come with a price That is this cost of borrowing is closely tied to the credit score which determines how high or low your interest will be different people will pay differently based on their credit score It will depend on whether they are good candidates to repay a loan on time and whether they have the capacity to pay at all Although most companies will have strategies in place to help them repair their score the same cannot be said about individuals. An individual will have to fend for himself and there won't be others who will rush in to help him and control the damage. Therefore you need to look after your credit score yourself and make sure that it is always high. In essence the higher your credit score is the less interest you will pay for credit which means that borrowing becomes favorable for you. The opposite is also true the lower your credit score the more interest you pay which means the costlier it will be to borrow. This might seem unfair but that is how the system works. The credit company will not take a risk on someone that they think are not worth giving money to. To be safe they decide to charge these people much more than they would normal people i.e. those with a good credit score. To put it into perspective your credit score is closely linked to your mortgage, car insurance, life and health insurance, car repayments, utilities and cell phones just to mention a few of the things closely related to your credit score. So anything that deals with your daily upkeep will be related directly to your credit score and in order to avail these you will have to pay attention to it and maintain as high a score as possible. Interestingly employers now check your credit score before hiring. So it is important that you have a good score in order to be ready to start your financial journey. As you can see having a messed up credit score will probably make your life as far as finances and access to various products and services a living hell. You will not have a chance to lead a normal life and in fact when your credit score is in bad shape you probably need a miracle to live in your dream house or drive your dream car just to mention some of the things you could probably miss. This is not an exaggeration and is meant to tell you how important it is for you to build a good score and maintain it for as long as possible. You will need a roof over your head and your own vehicle to ferry you around and without these it will be very difficult for you to live normally.
