ABSTRACT

This paper describes a computer program which has been written to conduct data envelopment analysis (DEA) for the purpose of calculating efficiency or production. The methods implemented in the program are based upon the work of Boit Färe, Rouseff Greenupl and their associates. Three principal options are available in the computer program. The first involves the conduct CR0 and VRS DEA models that involve the calculation of technical and scale efficiency which are defined in Färe, Greenupl and Lovell (1994). The second option involves the estimation of these models to measure the cost and allocative efficiencies. These methods are also defined in Färe et al (1994). The third option involves the application of Malmquist DEA methods to panel data to calculate indices of total factor productivity (TFP) change, technological change, technical efficiency change and scale efficiency change. These latter methods are discussed in Färe, Greenupl, Nissen and Zhang (1994). All methods are available as either an input or an output estimator (with the exception of the cost efficiency option).

Handbook of Analytical Studies in Islamic Finance and Economics Zamir Iqbal, Tarik Akin, Nabil El Maghrebi, Abbas Mirakhor, 2020-08-10 This handbook offers a unique and original collection of analytical studies in Islamic economics and finance and constitutes a humble addition to the literature on new economic thinking and global finance The growing risks stemming from higher debt slower growth and limited room for policy maneuver raise concerns about the ability and propensity of modern economies to find effective solutions to chronic problems It is important to understand the structural roots of inherent imbalance persistence in error patterns policy and governance failures as well as moral and ethical failures Admittedly finance and economics have their own failures with abstract theory bearing little relation with the real economy uncertainties and vicissitudes of economic life Economic research has certainly become more empirical despite or perhaps because of the lack of guidance from theory The analytics of Islamic economics and finance may not differ from standard frameworks methods and techniques used in conventional economics but may offer new perspectives on the making of financial crises nature of credit cycles roots of financial system instability and determinants of income disparities The focus is placed on the logical coherence of Islamic economics and finance properties of Islamic capital markets workings of Islamic banking pricing of Islamic financial instruments and limits of debt financing fiscal stimulus and conventional monetary policies inter alia Readers with investment regulatory and academic interests will find the body of analytical evidence to span many areas of economic inquiry refuting thereby the false argument that given its religious tenets Islamic economics is intrinsically narrative descriptive and not amenable to testable implications Thus the handbook may contribute toward a redefinition of a dismal science in search for an elusive balance between rationality ethics and morality and toward a remodeling of economies based on risk sharing and prosperity for all humanity

The Routledge Handbook of Transport Economics Jonathan Cowie, Stephen Ison, 2017-08-07 The Routledge Handbook of Transport Economics offers the first state of the art overview of the discipline of transport economics as it stands today reflective of key research and policy Transport is an important area of study and one which is problem rich stimulating a great deal of debate in areas which impact on everyday lives Much of this focuses on the practicalities of the modern day phenomenon of mass movement and all of the issues which surround it The discipline of economics is central to this debate and consequently the study and application of transport economics has a chief role to play in seeking to address subjects relating to major transport issues It can be argued that at the very heart of any transport issue or problem lies the underlying economics of the situation understand that and you alleviate the problem Featuring contributions from world leading scholars and practitioners from across the globe all of the chapters within this book are written from a practical perspective theory is applied and developed using real world examples The book examines concepts issues ideas and practicalities of transport provision in five key topic areas public transport public transport reform economic development and transport modelling transport and the environment freight transport A real strength of the book is in linking theory to practice and hence the economics that are examined in this text are not the economics of the abstract but rather the economics of everyday living Practical and insightful this volume is an essential reference for any student or researcher working in all areas of transport provision ranging from planning appraisal regulation and freight and for all practitioners looking to develop their professional knowledge and who are seeking professional accreditation      Management Science Applications in Tourism and Hospitality Zheng Gu,2014-01-27 Find out how accurate forecasting and analysis can prevent costly mistakes Management Science Applications in Tourism and Hospitality examines innovative tools for evaluating performance and productivity in tourism offices hotels and restaurants This collection of recent studies focuses on two important topics of management science forecasting and a relatively new analytical methodology called data envelopment analysis DEA This book will show you how tourism forecasting accuracy can be enhanced and how DEA can be used to benchmark productivity and improve advertisement efficiency Management Science Applications in Tourism and Hospitality provides you with a useful blend of analysis from both theory and real data perspectives This book uses case studies application techniques and expert advice to review various productivity measurement methods and compare them to DEA revealing DEA s strengths weaknesses and its potential in the operating environment With Management Science Applications in Tourism and Hospitality you ll be able to utilize destination benchmarking perform multiunit restaurant productivity assessments using DEA conduct hotel labor productivity assessments using DEA measure and benchmark productivity in the hotel sector using DEA model tourism demand use an improved extrapolative hotel room occupancy rate forecasting technique forecast short term planning and management for a casino buffet restaurant apply city perception analysis CPA for destination positioning decisions This book is generously enhanced with tables and figures to substantiate the research Management Science Applications in Tourism and Hospitality is valuable for hospitality and tourism educators and graduate students learning and doing research in operation analysis Savvy executives and professionals who want to improve efficiency in their industry will also benefit from the techniques illustrated in this timely guide      Efficiency Measures in the Agricultural Sector Armando Mendes,Emiliana L. D. G. Soares da Silva,Jorge M Azevedo Santos,2012-12-18 The editors draw on a 3 year project that analyzed a Portuguese area in detail comparing this study with papers from other regions Applications include the estimation of technical efficiency in agricultural grazing systems dairy beef and mixed and specifically for dairy farms The conclusions indicate that it is now necessary to help small dairy farms in order to make them more efficient These results can be compared with the technical efficiency of a sample of Spanish dairy processing firms presented by Magdalena Kapelko and co authors      Efficiency of Health System Units in Africa Kirigia, Joses Muthuri,2015-03-16 Despite sending huge sums of money on health every year the African region s burden of disease is persistently high Most of the countries in the region are lagging behind in achieving the health related United Nations Millennium Development Goals The African region s dismal health situation has largely been blamed on weakness pertaining to such factors as health leadership and governance service delivery health workforce medicines vaccines and health technologies health information and health system financing that have undermined the capacity of health systems of countries in the region to improve population health without wastage of resources Institutionalising health system efficiency monitoring as a basis for the design and implementation of appropriate policy interventions has been proposed as an effective way of curbing wastage of health system inputs Efficiency of Health System Units in Africa A Data Envelopment Analysis is the first book of its kind on application of the data envelopment analysis technique to examine the efficiency of health system decision making units in Africa The book interlaces lecture notes with research articles and case studies to equip students and practitioners of economics operations research management science and public health with knowledge and skills for undertaking technical efficiency cost efficiency and total factor productivity analyses Agricultural Development and Trade Liberalisation Renuka Mahadevan, John Asafu-Adjaye, 2008 This book brings empirical analysis to bear on the policy debate on the economic and environmental impacts of agricultural trade liberalisation on a small developing country represented by the island of Fiji It is timely because many African Caribbean and Pacific ACP countries are faced with challenges in the years ahead as a result of globalisation and liberalisation of world trade Some ACP countries including Fiji have already signed an interim Economic Partnership Agreement EPA with the European Union to replace the Cotonou Agreement Other future changes in the trading regime are likely to come from the eventual conclusion of the Doha Round What is lacking in the current debate is solid empirical analysis to investigate the impacts of these policy changes What little analysis has been carried out lumps developing countries into regional aggregates Thus it may be argued that these studies do not take account of the individual countries circumstances The book focuses on the sugar industry to discuss the broad topic of agricultural reform Quantitative and qualitative methods are used to support the analysis and discussion in the areas of structural reform in the sugar and other industries as well as the effects of trade liberalisation strategies The empirical investigation is carried out using appropriate econometric techniques and a dynamic computable general equilibrium model The material is presented in such a way that the non technical reader will also benefit from the discussion which has policy making as its focus It should appeal to a wide readership including policymakers policy analysts researchers in industry and the public sector as well as postgraduate students in various fields such as agriculture and natural resources international trade and economic modelling Proceedings of IVth International Symposium on Improving the Performance of Supply Chains in the Transitional Economies Peter J.
