

The Berlin Blockade & Airlift - 1948-49

Causes:

- In March 1948, 'Trizonia' was created - the USA's, Britain's and France's section of Germany combined. Unintentionally, Germany and Berlin were split into two parts.
  - o Stalin saw it as a means of developing the three zones more effectively and deliberately forcing the Soviet zone into poverty. He believed Germany should be one united country that followed communist ideology.
- In June 1948, the three allies made a new currency - the Deutschmark - to give Trizonia economic unity.
  - o The new currency created a separate economic unit from the East.
  - o It acknowledged that there were in effect two Germanys: West and East.

Narrative:

- The Western-occupied zones of Berlin were vulnerable because they were surrounded by Soviet territory. There were only two agreed land routes and two air routes or 'corridors' across the Soviet Zone of Germany to Western-occupied Berlin.
- In June 1948, Stalin shut off the land routes into Berlin - known as the Berlin Blockade.
  - o Wanted to show Trizonia that a divided Germany would not work.
  - o The main section of Trizonia in Berlin was able to communicate and feed the people of Berlin.
  - o If the blockade was successful, Stalin would win a huge propaganda success at the expense of the West. Might also mean the Western powers would give up control of their zones in Berlin and allow the whole of the capital to be controlled by the Soviet Union.
  - o Direct challenge to Truman - Stalin knew he could not ignore the blockade because of his recent speech about defending the world from communism - Truman Doctrine.
  - o The West knew if they tried to force supplies into Berlin, this would be seen as a potential act of war and might lead to direct military confrontation. Led to the Berlin Airlift to not increase tensions.
- Operation Vittles - The Berlin Airlift 1948-49
  - o The West flew food, coal and other necessities along the air corridors. Pilots took a risk as they were not sure if the Soviets would shoot them down.
  - o The people of West Berlin and Western troops in the city joined forces to build a runway at the old airport Berlin-Tempelhof and a whole new airport at Berlin-Tegel.
  - o Ordinary citizens helped unload the planes and hand out the essential supplies to all that needed them.
  - o The Americans flew 1,000 tonnes of supplies every day.
  - o In January 1949, the peak month of flying, 170,000 tonnes of supplies were sent into Berlin by aircraft.
- On 9th May 1949, the Soviets gave in and lifted the blockade. There were no Allied casualties, military or civilian. Stalin's attempt to win a propaganda victory backfired. The West responded in a peaceful way making it look like an unwise and aggressive act by Stalin.

Consequences:

- The separation of East and West Germany seemed like it would continue.
- The FRG (Federal Republic of Germany) for West Germany was set up on the 23rd of May 1949.
  - o Had a parliament - called the Bundestag.
  - o Konrad Adenauer was elected chancellor.
  - o Important because the FRG was seen as a country, and it allowed democracy. Worried Stalin as democracy and capitalistic views were spreading into Germany and he wanted it to be under communist control and ideology.
- Stalin responded to the FRG by creating the GDR (German Democratic Republic) in October 1949.
  - o Only communist bloc countries recognised it as a nation.
  - o The FRG refused to recognise that Germany has been split into two until the 1970s.
- Creation of NATO - North Atlantic Treaty Organisation.
  - o A formal military alliance was created in order to protect themselves from the Soviet Union.
  - o Made to send a message to Stalin about their determination to stand firm against communism.
  - o Resulted in an ongoing American military presence in Europe throughout the Cold War which worried Stalin.
