Archer, 2017-07-13 Women Warfare and Representation considers the various ways the American servicewoman has been represented throughout the 20th century and how those representations impact the roles she is permitted to inhabit While women have a relatively short history in the American military the last century shows an evolution of women's direct participation in war despite the need to overcome societal sex role expectations The primary focus is on the American case but Emerald Archer also introduces a comparative element showing how women's integration in the military differs in other countries including Great Britain Canada and Israel Adopting an interdisciplinary approach the book draws on military history theory and social psychology to offer a more complete and integrated history of women in the military and their representation in society

The Influence of Major Historic Events on the English Language Today Philip Wunderlich, 2019-09-04 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 2.7 University of Erfurt language English abstract This Bachelor Thesis will be analyzing the English language by investigating selected historical events which influenced the English language system and are therefore reasons for the contemporary state of Modern English ModE The following question for this paper arises What major historic events influenced the English language and what impact did they have in a degree that is still visible in Modern English At first a terminology section will be provided to explain the terms which will be used After that by using diachronic facts synchronic ModE characteristics in terms of lexicon and orthography will be analyzed Subsequently historical explanations will be given to underline the features and irregularities of ModE This data will then be used to answer the question of this Bachelor Thesis Approximately 400 million people around the world learn English as their first language Further studies have shown that around 1500 million people are able to speak English to some degree This does not take into account the tremendous amount of people who learn English as their second language English itself was brought to England when Celtic was the main language before the German speaking Anglo Saxons came and influenced the existing language It was then influenced by numerous other languages such as French which found its way into England after the Norman Conquest in 1066 According to Ferdinand de Saussure linguists agree that living languages which are actively used are constantly changing throughout time English is very interesting as it was so strongly affected even though only around 1500 years have passed since English came into existence I became exceptionally interested in where the Modern English ModE irregularities and features originated from and how English developed into its contemporary form New Annual Army List, Militia List, and Indian Civil Service List ..., 1897

Sexual and Gender-Based Violence. A Major Component of 'New Wars'. The Example of the Civil War in Liberia Jessica Siebert, 2021-07-19 Seminar paper from the year 2018 in the subject Politics Topic Peace and Conflict Security grade 1.3 <http://www.abo.fi/~jessica.siebert/>

www.uni-jena.de Institut für Politikwissenschaft language English abstract For the last few decades wars all over the world have not been the same as they used to be Their appearance has changed fundamentally and thus it seems inaccurate to call them just the same as wars as we know them Old Wars until the beginning of the 20th century were what we would perceive as the classic type of war with two states fighting against each other on a military level They are what Clausewitz called a continuation of political commerce a carrying out of the same by other means Those disputes usually ended after a huge final battle which ultimately led to a political decision of some sort Today this type of warfare is almost non-existent anymore when it comes to conflicts all over the world So what do we call these wars Kaldor and later Münkler both suggested the term New Wars as the most fitting for what we see on a global scale today But what are these New Wars what makes them so significantly different This question will be answered in this essay with a specific focus on sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV) and especially on violence against women as one of the most important and shocking factors of those new types of conflicts It will be highlighted on the example of the African state Liberia which has recently found its way out of conflict but is still struggling with the consequences and results of the civil war that has eroded the country with all its institutions and even more importantly its society Can this conflict be classified as a New War when considering the dimension of SGBV And how far has the state come in terms of gender equality and the fight against SGBV since the end of the 15-year period of civil war that has impacted the country on so many levels *The new army list, by H.G.
