Joseph Rudyard Kipling 30 December 1865 18 January 1936 was an English journalist, short story writer, poet, and novelist. Kipling's works of fiction include The Jungle Book 1894, Kim 1901, and many short stories including The Man Who Would Be King 1888. His poems include Mandalay 1890, Gunga Din 1890, The Gods of the Copybook Headings 1919, The White Man's Burden 1899, and If 1910. He is regarded as a major innovator in the art of the short story; his children's books are classics of children's literature, and one critic described his work as exhibiting a versatile and luminous narrative gift. Kipling was one of the most popular writers in the United Kingdom in both prose and verse in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Henry James said Kipling strikes me personally as the most complete man of genius as distinct from fine intelligence that I have ever known. In 1907, at the age of 42, he was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature, making him the first English language writer to receive the prize and its youngest recipient to date. He was also sounded out for the British Poet Laureateship and on several occasions for a knighthood, both of which he declined. Kipling's subsequent reputation has changed according to the political and social climate of the age, and the resulting contrasting views about him continued for much of the 20th century. George Orwell called him a prophet of British imperialism. Literary critic Douglas Kerr wrote Kipling is still an author who can inspire passionate disagreement, and his place in literary and cultural history is far from settled. But as the age of the European empires recedes, he is recognised as an incomparable, if controversial, interpreter of how empire was experienced. That, and an increasing recognition of his extraordinary narrative gifts, make him a force to be reckoned with.
