Contesting International Society in East Asia Barry Buzan, Yongjin Zhang, 2014-10-16 This book asks whether a regional international society exists in East Asia and why its existence matters to both regional and global orders International Society in East Asia Barry Buzan, Yongjin Zhang, 2014 Bringing together some of the most innovative scholars in both the English School of International Relations and East Asian Studies this volume investigates whether or not significant and distinct international social structures exist at the regional level represented by East Asia and what this can tell us about international society both regionally and globally Contesting International Society in East Asia Barry Buzan, Yongjin Zhang, 2014 Bringing together some of the most innovative scholars in both the English School of International Relations and East Asian Studies this volume investigates whether or not significant and distinct international social structures exist at the regional level represented by East Asia and what this can tell us about international society both regionally and globally Japan and Asia's Contested Order Yul Sohn, T. J. Pempel, 2018-08-20 This book brings together up to date research from prominent international scholars in a collaborative exploration of the Japan's efforts to shape Asia's rapidly shifting regional order Pulled between an increasingly inward looking America whose security support remains critical and a rising and more militarily assertive China with whom Japan retains deep economic interdependence Japanese leaders are consistently maneuvering to ensure the country's regional interests Nuclear and missile threats from North Korea and historically problematic relations with South Korea further complicate Japanese endeavors So too do the shifting winds of Japanese domestic politics economics and identity The authors weave these complex threads together to offer a nuanced portrait of both Japan and the region Scholars observers of politics and policymakers will find this a timely and The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Regionalism Tanja A. Börzel, Thomas Risse, 2016-02-04 The Oxford useful collection Handbook of Comparative Regionalism the first of its kind offers a systematic and wide ranging survey of the scholarship on regionalism regionalization and regional governance Unpacking the major debates leading authors of the field synthesize the state of the art provide a guide to the comparative study of regionalism and identify future avenues of research Twenty seven chapters review the theoretical and empirical scholarship with regard to the emergence of regionalism the institutional design of regional organizations and issue specific governance as well as the effects of regionalism and its relationship with processes of regionalization. The authors explore theories of cooperation integration and diffusion explaining the rise and the different forms of regionalism The handbook also discusses the state of the art on the world regions North America Latin America Europe Eurasia Asia North Africa and the Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa Various chapters survey the literature on regional governance in major issue areas such as security and peace trade and finance environment migration social and gender policies as well as democracy and human rights Finally the handbook engages in cross regional comparisons with regard to institutional design dispute settlement identities and communities legitimacy and democracy as well as inter and transregionalism Rethinking Sino-Japanese Alienation Barry Buzan, Evelyn Goh, 2020-01-09 Bitterly contested memories of war colonisation and empire among Japan China and Korea have increasingly threatened regional order and security over the past three decades In Sino Japanese relations identity territory and power pull together in a particularly lethal direction generating dangerous tensions in both geopolitical and memory rivalries Buzan and Goh explore a new approach to dealing with this history problem First they construct a more balanced and global view of China and Japan in modern world history Second building on this they sketch out the possibilities for a 21st century great power bargain between them Buzan puts Northeast Asia's history since 1840 into both a world historical and a systematic normative context exposing the parochial nature of the China Japan history debate in relation to what is a bigger shared story about their encounter with modernity and the West within which their modern encounter with each other took place Arguing that regional order will ultimately depend substantially on the relationship between these two East Asian great powers Goh explores the conditions under which China and Japan have been able to reach strategic bargains in the course of their long historical relationship and uses this to sketch out the main modes of agreement that might underpin a new contemporary great power bargain between them in a variety of future scenarios for the region The frameworks adopted here consciously blend historical contextualisation enduring concerns with wealth power and interest and the complex relationship between Northeast Asian states evolving encounters with each other and with global international society Sovereignty and Status in East Asian International Relations Seo-Hyun Park, 2017-05-11 This book shows how historical experiences have affected East Asian security debates as reflected in enduring concerns with sovereign autonomy International Congress Asian Studies Newsletter .2007 Directory of Published Proceedings, 2003 Handbook of Calendar ,2004 Research on International Entrepreneurship Leo Paul Dana, 2004 Provides an array of diverse perspectives on international entrepreneurship a field of research that blends concepts and methodologies from more traditional social sciences This handbook provides literature reviews and is useful for the researcher of entrepreneurship and the Taiwanese Identity from Domestic, Regional and Global Perspectives Jens internationalisation of entrepreneurs Damm, Gunter Schubert, 2007 The tension between Taiwan's globalization and its ongoing identity formation is clearly visible in the economic political and societal spheres of the island republic Against this background the authors of this volume deal with the following questions To what extent has Taiwan become part of the Greater China region and in that sense a part of China How successful have Taiwan's endeavors been to escape China assert its own identity and communicate this to the international community How does Taiwanese identity connect to its integration within Greater China and beyond that is to its being part of a gobalized transnational world The varied focus and range of the papers in this volume show that politically the result of the debate on Taiwan's national identity is undecided economically however Taiwan has become part of a Greater China region and cross Strait integration would thus seem to be inevitable International Relations of East Asia Xiaoming Huang, 2019-12-28 East Asia's rapidly changing role in international security the global economy development and global governance are expertly accounted for in this much needed state of the art text Xiaoming Huang offers an engaging and informed account of the key concepts issues and actors working in this area Ranging from the region s history to culture and a comparative assessment of the region s states this text is informed throughout by a compelling theoretical framework In so doing it unpicks the often complex relationships both at the domestic level and externally Only with this understanding is it possible to make sense of the region's complex relationships both internally and externally Structured around key concepts in international relations of war and peace economic development and increased contemporary security threats this text offers an empirically rich engaging account of the changing fortunes of East Asia The Foreign Economic Policies of Singapore, South Korea, and Taiwan Christopher M. Dent, 2002 Singapore South Korea and Taiwan East Asia s newly industrialised economies the NIE 3 experienced a profound development transformation over recent decades Christopher Dent makes a comparative study of their foreign economic policies highlighting how the NIE 3 have engaged with the international economic system in an increasingly dynamic way The book develops a new macro framework of foreign economic policy analysis that provides the structure for this study. The author argues that the development context of the NIE 3 s foreign economic policies is grounded in their common development statism and semi peripheralisation He further contends that it is the pursuit of economic security that primarily motivates their respective foreign economic policies This new conceptualisation of economic security in the context of foreign economic policy will appeal to academics researchers and students in wide range of disciplines including Asian studies international relations international political economy economics and politics South East Asia Research, 2008 The Role of Civil Society in Conflict Resolution Unto Vesa, Jouko Huru, 2007 European Newsletter of Southeast Asian Studies ,1998
