The text discusses new conceptual changes in the design philosophy away from multistage expendable vehicles to winged reusable launch vehicles and presents an overview of the systems engineering and vehicle design process as well as systems trades and analysis. Individual chapters are devoted to specific disciplines such as aerodynamics, aerothermal analysis, structures, materials, propulsion, flight mechanics and trajectories, avionics and computers and control systems. The final chapters deal with human factors, payload launch and mission operations, safety and mission assurance. The two texts by the author provide a valuable source of information for the space transportation community of designers, operators and managers. A companion CD ROM succinctly packages some oversized figures and tables, resources for systems engineering and launch ranges and a compendium of software programs. The computer programs include the USAF AIRPLANE AND MISSILE DATCOM CODES with extensive documentation, COSTMODL for software costing, OPGUID launch vehicle trajectory generator, SUPERFLO, a series of 11 programs intended for solving compressible flow problems in ducts and pipes found in industrial facilities and a wealth of Microsoft Excel spreadsheet programs covering the disciplines of statistics, vehicle trajectories, propulsion performance, math utilities.
