Contract Farming For Inclusive Market Access:

Contract Farming for Inclusive Market Access Carlos A. Da Silva, Marlo Rankin, 2013 Recent transformations in agrifood systems have created new technical requirements and compliance costs that make it increasingly difficult for resource poor farmers to access modern market channels In this respect the question of whether contract farming can be an effective institutional mechanism to address this issue stands out as one of special relevance This book aims to typify the extent to which contract farming is helping small farmers to access markets and meet stringent requirements of manufacturers retailers exporters and service firms from both food and non food sectors such as biofuels and forestry It seeks to clarify differences in the functionality of contracts depending on commodity market technology public policies and country circumstances Conceptual issues are discussed and real world case study appraisals from developing regions are presented The issues raised in the case studies and the key messages synthesized in the initial chapter bring new insights and contributions to further enrich knowledge on contract farming as a tool for inclusive market access in developing countries

Publisher s description      Enabling regulatory frameworks for contract farming Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-03-11

FAO s previous contribution to the development of contract farming saw the publication in 2015 of the UNIDROIT FAO IFAD Legal Guide on Contract Farming which focused on the bilateral relationship between an agricultural producer and a contractor This Legislative Study develops that research and focuses on the regulatory frameworks for contract farming aiming to highlight different possible approaches for different contexts Responsible contract farming can be a powerful tool for small scale farmers in developing countries to move towards larger scale commercial production It can create economic wealth contribute to supply chain efficiency through the production of higher quantities of better quality products and contribute to achieving domestic food security objectives Maximizing these benefits while minimizing the inherent risks of contract farming is reliant upon the forging of an enabling environment a key part of which is the domestic regulatory framework This Legislative Study provides guidance to domestic regulators and other interested readers on how to appraise and potentially reform domestic regulatory frameworks to achieve responsible contract farming Recognising that different countries and contextual realities may benefit from different regulatory solutions this Study provides several examples supported by representative case studies on how contract farming can be regulated without promoting a single solution as the most appropriate Please visit FAO s Contract Farming Resource Centre <http://www.fao.org/in-action/contract-farming/en> which is a regularly updated website hosting a variety of material on contract farming both from FAO and from other recognized authors

Contract farming and public-private partnerships in aquaculture Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-10-31 Through an array of project outcomes in different countries this paper demonstrates that contract farming is a win win solution because young workers gain access to markets while private companies have access to produce without acquiring land or supervising labour

agreements Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, International Fund for Agricultural Development, 2018-06-26 This document is primarily a synthesis of the UNIDROIT FAO IFAD Legal Guide on Contract Farming It is a comprehensive document that considers contract farming from the viewpoint of private law and seeks to provide guidance concerning the design and implementation of sound contracts thereby generally contributing to building a conducive environment for contract farming The publication does not intend to cover all possible agricultural contracts Its scope is limited to the bilateral relationship between producer s and a contractor through contract farming This involves parties entering into a contract that could be established for a fixed term for one production cycle for several or many cycles or years or for an indefinite period The document aims to provide advice to promote harmonious relations among all parties involved in contracts and those advising them The sustainable intensification of smallholder farming systems Dr Dominik Klausner, Dr Mike Robinson, 2020-11-24 Strong coverage of improving smallholder access to key inputs from seeds to nutrition and pest management Reviews ways of improving public and private sector extension support as well as market access for smallholders Chapter authors mix research expertise and practical experience of successful project implementation on the ground
