Assignment 10 - Cell Communication and Signaling: Cytokine

1. What is a signal transduction pathway? Give an example.

A signal transduction pathway is a series of events that starts with a signal (like a hormone or growth factor) and ends with a response (like a change in gene expression or cell division).

Example: A signal transduction pathway for a growth factor. A growth factor (like epidermal growth factor) binds to a receptor on the cell surface. This activates a series of proteins (like Ras, Raf, and MEK) that eventually lead to the activation of a transcription factor (like Myc). The transcription factor then enters the nucleus and binds to DNA, leading to the expression of genes that promote cell growth.

2. What three main signaling pathways are an example of a signal transduction pathway?

The three main signaling pathways are the Ras/MAPK pathway, the JAK/STAT pathway, and the PI3K/Akt pathway. Each pathway starts with a signal molecule binding to a receptor, which then activates a series of proteins that lead to a specific cellular response.
