

Q:3 What are coral reefs?

Ans: Coral reefs: Corals are formed from the secretion produced by specialized polyps that are present in certain coelenterates. These polyps are covered by the stony cups due to the hardening of their secretion. From the mouth of the stony cup a polyp can pass out its tentacles for feeding and withdraw it when not feeding. Most such coelenterates are colonial. Living polyps are found in the surface layer of corals. However on the lower side and at the base are present masses of dead stony structures called coral reefs. These are mostly formed of calcium carbonates (Lime-stone).

Q:4 Differentiate between Acoelomate and Coelomates.

Acoelomate	Coelomate
The animals without body cavity are called acoelomates.	The animals with true coelom derived from mesoderm are called coelomates.
Acoelomates do not possess a fluid-filled cavity between the body wall and the digestive tract.	A coelom is a fluid-filled cavity, which lies between the body cavity and the gut.
Acoelomates are invertebrates.	Coelomates can be either vertebrates or invertebrates.
All coelomates are protostomes.	Coelomates can be either protostomes or deuterostomes
The gut (digestive canal) is sac type in acoelomate. They have no special transport system. The excretory system is composed of flame cells, excretory ducts and excretory pores. Nervous system is well developed.	The coelomate have more complex gut and nervous system. They also have well developed excretory system, circulatory system, respiratory system and reproductive system.
Ribbon worms, tapeworms, flukes, and planarians like Platyhelminthes are the examples of acoelomates.	Chordata, Echinodermata, Brachiopoda, Ectoprocta, Phoronida, Mollusca, Arthropoda, and Annelida are the examples of coelomates.
