Methodological Approaches to Societies in Transformation Yasmine Berriane, Annuska Derks, Aymon Kreil, Dorothea Lüddeckens, 2021-04-21 This open access book provides methodological devices and analytical frameworks for the study of societies in transformation It explores a central paradox in the study of change making sense of change requires long term perspectives on societal transformations and on the different ways people experience social change whereas the research carried out to study change is necessarily limited to a relatively short space of time This volume offers a range of methodological responses to this challenge by paying attention to the complex entanglement of qualitative research and the metanarratives generally used to account for change Each chapter is based on a concrete case study from different parts of the world and tackles a diversity of topics analytical approaches and data collection methods The contributors innovative solutions provide valuable tools and techniques for all those interested in the study of change

The Law and Legitimacy of Imposed Constitutions Richard Albert, Xenophon Contiades, Alkmene Fotiadou, 2018-11-01 Constitutions are often seen as the product of the free will of a people exercising their constituent power This however is not always the case particularly when it comes to imposed constitutions In recent years there has been renewed interest in the idea of imposition in constitutional design but the literature does not yet provide a comprehensive resource to understand the meanings causes and consequences of an imposed constitution This volume examines the theoretical and practical questions emerging from what scholars have described as an imposed constitution A diverse group of contributors interrogates the theory forms and applications of imposed constitutions with the aim of refining our understanding of this variation on constitution making Divided into three parts this book first considers the conceptualization of imposed constitutions suggesting definitions or corrections to the definition of what exactly an imposed constitution is The contributors then go on to explore the various ways in which constitutions are and can be imposed The collection concludes by considering imposed constitutions that are currently in place in a number of polities worldwide problematizing the consequences their imposition has caused Cases are drawn from a broad range of countries with examples at both the national and supranational level This book addresses some of the most important issues discussed in contemporary constitutional law the relationship between constituent and constituted power the source of constitutional legitimacy the challenge of foreign and expert intervention and the role of comparative constitutional studies in constitution making The volume will be a valuable resource for those interested in the phenomenon of imposed constitutionalism as well as anyone interested in the current trends in the study of comparative constitutional law

Scotland and the Caribbean, c.1740-1833 Michael Morris, 2015-03-12 This book participates in the modern recovery of the memory of the long forgotten relationship between Scotland and the Caribbean Drawing on theoretical paradigms of world literature and transnationalism it argues that Caribbean slavery profoundly shaped Scotland s economic social and cultural development and draws out the implications for current debates on Scotland s national narratives of identity Eighteenth to nineteenth century Scottish writers are re examined in this new light Morris explores the ways that discourses of improvement in both Scotland and the Caribbean are mediated by the modes of pastoral and georgic which struggle to explain and contain the labour conditions of agricultural labourers both free and enslaved The ambivalent relationship of Scottish writers including Robert Burns to questions around abolition allows fresh perspectives on the era Furthermore Morris considers the origins of a hybrid Scottish Creole identity through two nineteenth century figures Robert Wedderburn and Mary Seacole The final chapter moves forward to consider the implications for post devolution post referendum Scotland Underpinning this investigation is the conviction that collective memory is a key feature which shapes behaviour and beliefs in the present the recovery of the memory of slavery is performed here in the interests of social justice in the present

Scammer's Yard Jovan Scott Lewis,2020-10-27 Tells the story of Jamaican scammers who use crime to gain autonomy opportunity and repair There is romance in stealing from the rich to give to the poor but how does that change when those perceived rich are elderly white North Americans and the poor are young Black Jamaicans In this innovative ethnography Jovan Scott Lewis tells the story of Omar Junior and Dwayne Young and poor they strive to make a living in Montego Bay where call centers and tourism are the two main industries in the struggling economy Their experience of grinding poverty and drastically limited opportunity leads them to conclude that scamming is the best means of gaining wealth and advancement Otherwise they are doomed to live in sufferation an inescapable poverty that breeds misery frustration and vexation In the Jamaican lottery scam run by these men targets are told they have qualified for a large loan or award if they pay taxes or transfer fees When the fees are paid the award never arrives netting the scammers tens of thousands of U S dollars Through interviews historical sources song lyrics and court testimonies Lewis examines how these scammers justify their deceit discovering an ethical narrative that reformulates ideas of crime and transgression and their relationship to race justice and debt Scammer s Yard describes how these young men seeking to overcome inequality and achieve autonomy come to view crime as a form of liberation Their logic raises unsettling questions about a world economy that relegates postcolonial populations to deprivation even while expecting them to follow the rules of capitalism that exacerbate their dispossession In this groundbreaking account Lewis asks whether true reparation for the legacy of colonialism is to be found only through radical even criminal means

Linking Political Violence and Crime in Latin America Kirsten Howarth, Jenny H. Peterson, 2016-03-10 This edited collection explores the politics of crime and violence in Latin America through both theoretical reflections as well as several detailed case studies based on empirical primary research Its overall aim is to explore common misperceptions and simplifications which are often found in political discourses policy documentation as well as some academic work These simplifications include a focus on gangs narrow understandings of organized criminal groups and the knock on effect that such a focus has on policy making Instead the chapters in this book shift the reader's gaze to more structural explanations and analytical approaches moving them towards an understanding of how wider historical economic cultural and even psychological issues impact the complex relationships between crime violence and politics in the region The detailed case studies also allow for a unique comparative analysis of problems faced throughout the region While significant differences exist analysis of the case studies reveals common issues problems and debates between countries including structural violence militarization and neo liberalism These golden threads reveal not only the complexity of crime and violence in the region but also expose the failure of the overly simple gangsterism discourse found elsewhere Finally and importantly several of the chapters explore the politics of policy making in relation to these problems shedding light on the complex reasons for policy failures and highlighting innovative opportunities for change Whilst shedding light on current problems in the region the book also offers a range of analytical approaches for exploring other cases where crime violence and politics collide
