

A vibrant, colorful illustration of a spring garden. In the center, a cluster of white snowdrops hangs from green stems. Surrounding them are various tulips in shades of pink, purple, and yellow. Several red ladybugs with black spots are scattered on the green leaves, and a small orange and black butterfly is flying in the upper right. The background is a soft, bright yellow and blue sky. The text "Bonne Chance" is written in a white, elegant cursive font across the middle of the image.

Bonne Chance Au Quebec:

The Quebec Connection Julie-Françoise Tolliver, 2020-12-03 From the 1950s to the 1970s the idea of independence inspired radical changes across the French speaking world In The Quebec Connection Julie Fran oise Tolliver examines the links and parallels that writers from Quebec the Caribbean and Africa imagined to unite that world illuminating the tropes they used to articulate solidarities across the race and class differences that marked their experience Tolliver argues that the French tongue both enabled and delimited connections between these writers restricting their potential with the language s own imperial history The literary map that emerges demonstrates the plurality of French language literatures going beyond the concept of a single unitary francophone literature to appreciate the profuse range of imaginaries connected by solidary texts that hoped for transformative independence Importantly the book expands the francophone framework by connecting African and Caribbean literatures to Qu b cois literature attending to their interactions while recognizing their particularities The Quebec Connection s analysis of transnational francophone solidarities radically alters the field of francophone studies by redressing the racial logic that isolates the northern province from what has come to be called the postcolonial world
