The State in Medieval Kashmir Rattan Lal Hangloo, 2000. The study essentially focuses on the central function of the medieval Kashmir Shahmir Sultanate in relation to surplus extraction and the perpetuation of its domination with its heavy dependence on both Brahmanism and Islam. It seeks to situate the medieval state of Kashmir in the cultural and social traditions of the region. The study is organized around four main aspects: the historical roots of state formation in pre-Sultanate Kashmir; conversion to Islam and the consolidation of social base of power in the Sultanate; the Sayyids, Sultans, and the state; a search for legitimacy and the incorporation of the Sultanate in the Mughal state.

The Divine Within Asian Civilisations Museum (Singapore), 2007. The South Asia collection of the Asian Civilisations Museum Singapore is the most comprehensive in Southeast Asia. Begun in 1993 at the same time as the establishment of the Museum, the collection has grown steadily and is now over 250 objects strong. Government grants, loans, donations from committed supporters, and a dynamic team made it possible. Although the collection's primary focus is South India because of its historical and cultural links with Singapore, it covers various regions and periods of South Asian history. This 288-page volume of detailed catalogue entries approaches the collection thematically, weaving a web of interconnections. The catalogue covers a wide spectrum of artefacts from the ancient period to the 20th century, linking the threads of communication and historical development. Themes such as religion, architecture, festivals, rituals, and visual and performing arts unveil the cultural richness and diversity of South Asia. Impressive stone sculptures and massive architectural fragments are set alongside exquisite textiles, jewellery, and ritual objects.
