Introduction

Background of the study

In the 21st century, there are numerous advancement and invention in technology that change the way we lived and of of those is the social media. Social media revolutionized the way we connect and interact with our peers. It is one of the most powerful tool today that enables us to connect to almost anyone, create a community, and enables us to share our thoughts and opinions freely. In the Philippines, there are around 80 million active social media user out of 110 million of the total population. On the other hand, at the same time social media users grow and their average time spent daily extend, the rate of mental health issues such as depression, anxiety, and stress, are significantly increasing. Therefore this study seeks to answer how social media use affects people mental health, especially students, and to confirm whether or not social media use and mental health issues among students are correlated.

Statement of the Problem

Social media such as Facebook and Twitter has revolutionized the way people connect and interact with each other. However, over the past decades the rate of mental health issues such as clinical despression, anxiety, and suicidal rate has increased at the same time in the growth of social media platforms. Mental health issues can affect a student's energy level, ability to focus, and hinders students'ability to learn . Research indicates that depression is linked to lower general average and test scores compare to the ones who have healthier mental health. It seems that the way people use social media and mental health issues are correlated. The purpose of this study is to confirm whether social media use is related to increased rate in mental health problems in students of General Mariano Alvarez Technical High School. Specifically, it aims to seek the following questions:

1. What is the average time spent using social of student of GMATHS?
2. How many grade 12 HUMSS students use social media such as Facebook and Twitter?
3. What is the most used social media among grade 12 HUMSS student of GMATHS?

Face Recognition for Real Time

Application Pradeep Kakkar,2017-11-27 Master s Thesis from the year 2017 in the subject Engineering Computer

Engineering grade 10 course M Tech ECE language English abstract Images containing faces are essential to intelligent vision based human computer interaction and research efforts in face processing include face recognition face tracking pose estimation and expression recognition The rapidly expanding research in face processing is based on the premise that information about a user s identity state and intent can be extracted from images and that computers can then react accordingly e g by knowing person s identity person may be authenticated to utilize a particular service or not A first step of any face processing system is registering the locations in images where faces are present The local binary pattern is a simple yet very efficient texture operator which labels the pixels of an image by thresholding the neighborhood of each pixel and considers the result as a binary number The LBP method can be seen as a unifying approach to the traditionally divergent statistical and structural models of texture analysis Perhaps the most important property of the LBP operator in real world applications is its invariance against monotonic gray level changes caused e g by illumination variations Another equally important is its computational simplicity which makes it possible to analyze images in challenging real time settings The success of LBP in face description is due to the discriminative power and computational simplicity of the LBP operator and the robustness of LBP to mono tonic gray scale changes caused by for example illumination variations The use of histograms as features also makes the LBP approach robust to face misalignment and pose variations For these reasons the LBP methodology has already attained an established position in face analysis research Because finding an efficient spatiotemporal representation for face analysis from videos is challenging most of the existing works limit the scope of the problem by discarding the facial dynamics and only considering the structure Motivated by the psychophysical findings which indicate that facial movements can provide valuable information to face analysis spatiotemporal LBP approaches for face facial expression and gender recognition from videos were described
