

Genetics Worksheet

Part 1 Introduction:

- Describe the genotypes given (use your notes). The first two are already done.
 - DD homozygous, dominant
 - Dd heterozygous
 - dd _____
 - ss _____
 - Yy _____
 - WW _____
- In humans, brown eye color (B), is dominant over blue eye color (b). What are the phenotypes of the following genotypes? In other words, what color eyes will they have?
 - BB _____
 - bb _____
 - Bb _____

The Five (5) Steps Associated With Solving a Genetics Problem:

If you take the time to follow the directions below, you will be able to solve most genetics problems.

- Determine the genotypes of the parents or whatever is given in problem.
- Set up your Punnett square as follows: *# sq. based on possible gametes that can be formed.

- Fill in the squares. This represents the possible combinations that could occur during fertilization.
- Write out the possible genotypic ratio of the offspring.
- Using the genotypic ratio determine the phenotypic ratio for the offspring.

Part 2: Sample Problem (Just read this over, it is a practice problem)

A heterozygous male, black eyed mouse is crossed with a red eyed, female mouse. Predict the possible offspring!

- Step 1: Determine the genotype of the parents. The male parent is heterozygous which means he has one allele for black eyes and one allele for red eyes. Since his eyes are black, this means that black allele must be dominant over the red allele. So the male parents genotype is "Bb" (B = allele for black eye, b = allele for red eye). The female parent has red eyes, there is only one way to have this recessive phenotype, so she must be homozygous recessive. Homozygous recessive means that her genotype must be "bb". Therefore, genotype of the parents is Bb x bb.

The Natural History of Inbreeding and Outbreeding Nancy Wilmsen Thornhill, 1993-08-15 Inbreeding the mating of close kin and outbreeding the mating of distant relatives or unrelated organisms have long been important subjects to evolutionary biologists Inbreeding reduces genetic diversity in a population increasing the likelihood that genetic defects will become widespread and deprive a population of the diversity it may need to cope with its environment Most plants and animals have evolved behavioral and morphological mechanisms to avoid inbreeding However today many endangered species exist only in small very isolated populations where inbreeding is unavoidable so it has become a concern for conservationists In this volume twenty six experts in evolution behavior and genetics examine the causes and consequences of inbreeding The authors ask whether inbreeding is as problematic as biologists have thought under what ecological conditions inbreeding occurs and whether organisms that inbreed have mechanisms to dampen the anticipated problems of reduced genetic variation The studies including theoretical and empirical work on wild and captive populations demonstrate that many plants and animals inbreed to a greater extent than biologists have thought with variable effects on individual fitness Graduate students and researchers in evolutionary biology animal behavior ecology and conservation biology will welcome this wide ranging collection New Zealand Journal of Ecology ,2002 Introduction to Population Genetics Richard Halliburton,2004 Making the theory of population genetics relevant to readers this book explains the related mathematics with a logical organization It presents the quantitative aspects of population genetics and employs examples of human genetics medical evolution human evolution and endangered species For an introduction to and understanding of population genetics Introduction to Psychology Dennis Coon,1986 Student Guide for Cycles of Life Gerald L.
