★ THE NERVOUS SYSTEM

three functions of the nervous system:

sensory input: uses sensory receptors to monitor changes inside and outside the body integration: processes and interprets sensory inputs and decides what to do motor output: activates effector organs to cause a response parts of the nervous system central nervous system (CNS): brain, brain stem, and spinal cord peripheral nervous system (PNS): cranial + peripheral nerves, and ganglia parts of the peripheral nervous system somatic nervous system: sensory and motor control autonomic nervous system: involuntary control of organs and body functions sub parts of the somatic nervous system:

sensory (afferent) division: conducts impulses to and from receptors - largely involved in sensation and special senses motor (efferent) division: largely motor nerve fibers to control skeletal muscles sub parts of the autonomic nervous system:

sympathetic nervous system (SANS or SNS): fight or flight parasympathetic nervous system (PSNS or PNS): rest and digest enteric nervous system (ENS): controls local digestive functions within the digestive system structure of the nervous system: almost every tissue and organ is innervated

★ NERVOUS TISSUE

the cells of the nervous system neurons: the main signal transmitter cells glial cells or neuroglia: cells that protect neurons and clean up debris and waste (serve as immune cells) neurotransmitters: chemicals that are released by the cells in the nervous system that act as messengers neuroglia

-outnumber neurons

-have branching processes (extensions) and a soma (cell body)

-much smaller than neurons

-specialized based on their functions and locations (PNS and CNS)

1-central nervous systems astrocytes (CNS)

- they have end feet that wrap around neurons and capillaries in the brain
- make up the blood brain barrier (BBB) astrocytes control the chemical environment around neurons:

- mop up leaked ions
- recycle neurotransmitters

microglia (CNS)

- small cells with oval shaped somas (cell bodies)
- many processes that reach out to monitor health of neurons
- work with astrocytes to protect neurons and monitor the BBB
- can migrate when they sense damage or unhealthy neurons
