An illustration of two women standing on a green lawn in front of a large, multi-story brick university building. The woman on the left has long, wavy blonde hair and is wearing a white long-sleeved button-down shirt tucked into a dark plaid skirt, with her hands on her hips. The woman on the right has long, wavy brown hair and is wearing a yellow vest over a dark top and a long necklace. The background shows a clear blue sky and a small figure of another person walking in the distance.

Anime! Patrick Drazen, 2017-07-31 Christianity has been in Japan for five centuries but embraced by less than one percent of the population It s a complicated relationship given the sudden appearance in Japan of Renaissance Catholicism which was utterly unlike the historic faiths of Shinto and Buddhism Japan had to invent a word for religion since Japan did not share the west s reliance on faith in a personal God Japan s views of this outsider religion resemble America s view of the outsider Islamic faith Understanding this through the book Orientalism by Edward Said Patrick Drazen samples depictions of Christianity in the popular Japanese media of comics and cartoons The book begins with the work of postwar comics master Tezuka Osamu with results that range from the comic to the revisionist to the blasphemous and obscene Violent

Cartographies Michael J. Shapiro, 1997 An innovative critique of the way historians and political scientists study war How can we resist a nation state vision of the globe What is needed to unmap the familiar world In Violent Cartographies Michael J Shapiro considers these questions exploring the significance of war in contemporary society and its connections to the geographical imaginary Employing an ethnographic perspective Shapiro uses whiplash reversals and bizarre juxtapositions to jolt readers out of conventional thinking about international relations and security studies Considering the ideas of thinkers ranging from von Clausewitz to Virilio from Derrida to DeLillo Shapiro distances readers from familiar political and strategic accounts of war and its causes Shapiro uses literary and film analyses to elucidate his themes For example he considers such cultural artifacts as U S Marine recruiting television commercials American war movies and General Schwarzkopf s autobiography elaborating how a certain image of American masculinity is played out in the military imaginary and in the media Other topics are Melville s The Confidence Man Bunuel s film That Obscure Object of Desire and a comparison of the U S invasion of Grenada to an Aztec flower war Throughout Shapiro draws attention to the violence of the colonial encounters through which many modern nation states were formed and ultimately suggests possible directions for an ethics of minimal violence in the encounter with others The overall effect is of a complex cumulative and layered analysis of the historical and moral conditions of the current use of violence in the conduct of international relations A fascinating and challenging work Violent Cartographies will interest anyone concerned with the connections between war and culture
