Coaching Driven Executive Guide Process Sherpa:

The Sherpa Guide Brenda Corbett, Judith Coleman, 2006 In this book the authors take on the role of the Sherpa enabling advising and assisting The executive like climbers on Everest must endure the hardships put forth the effort be subject to the risks involved in reaching their goals Ultimately they must reach the summit through their own skill and will On Everest there is no quick and easy way to reach the summit You d think a straightforward approach would be a helicopter to the top Great idea but the air at high altitude is too thin for a helicopter to sustain flight During the arduous climb a Sherpa does not make decisions The Sherpa makes recommendations and the Sherpa gives tips tricks and techniques to make the climb easier but does NOT climb for the client The client has to make the decisions once the Sherpa has offered all the alternatives In coaching you need a process and you must respect the process No shortcuts and no detours Limit the playing field to professional issues and then to allow the client to do the climbing on their way to the summit Every situation is unique but without a map for the process a defined system there s no way you ll be able to locate and reach your client s goals
